FEAST OF THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD (C)

Today's feast of the Baptism of the Lord marks the end of the Christmas season. Tomorrow we begin 'Ordinary Time' in the Church's calendar and go back to green vestments. But this is not an ordinary year. Pope Francis has called an extraordinary jubilee year dedicated to the theme of mercy. It began in December and continues until November 2016.

The Year of Mercy was marked with the opening of the Holy Door at St Peter's Basilica in Rome. The idea of a Holy Door dates from the 15th century; it is a special door in the major churches of Rome, which are ceremoniously opened only during jubilee years, and the faithful can receive special graces (indulgences) by visiting the Churches and going through them. But we needn't travel to Rome: Pope Francis asked that all Dioceses in the world designate a door for the Year of Mercy – and both Brentwood and Westminster Cathedrals have one. During this year, it would be good for us to visit one of these cathedrals and go through the door of Mercy.

The door is the means of entry into a place; it marks the crossing of a threshold, a transition from outside to inside, a movement into a new space. In many ways, going through a door is symbolic of Baptism. Baptism is the door by which we enter into the life of God.

Baptism is the key theme of today's Gospel, which describes the baptism of our Lord. Jesus is without sin, and has no need for the baptism of repentance that John preaches. Nonetheless, he undergoes baptism in solidarity with us sinners. When Jesus is baptised, the Father affirms Him as the beloved Son and the Holy Spirit descends upon Him. When we are baptised, we are drawn into this life of the Trinity. God in His goodness dwells within us and we become temples of the Holy Spirit. Thus, Jesus opens the door of salvation to us, and by our Baptism, we pass through that door.

But during our lives we often fail to retain the grace of God, that is, His divine life, in us. Serious sin can kill the life of grace in us. But the wonderful thing, which is being stressed in this year of Mercy, is that through repentance, the mercy of God can restore us to the life of grace. When we fall short and lose the life of grace, the Sacrament of Reconciliation (Confession / Penance), is the way that we experience God's mercy, and become a new creation again. Mercy is the tender love of God for the sinner who seeks Him.

As we head into Ordinary Time, do not miss the extraordinary opportunities being offered. Seize the moment! The doors of mercy are open to us; let us not be afraid to walk through.
