SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER (DIVINE MERCY SUNDAY)

In today's Gospel reading, the disciples are initially huddled in a locked room, fearing that what happened to Jesus would happen to them. They were confused by the recent events, gripped by fear and shut in on themselves. But despite the doors being locked, Jesus came in and stood among them, saying 'peace be with you.' He offers them the gift of peace.

What is peace? From a worldly perspective, 'peace' often just means the absence of conflict, the interval between one episode of unrest and another. Of course it is important to work for the resolution of conflict, but this is not all that peace entails.

The peace that Christ offers is rooted in forgiveness from sin. He gives His disciples the power to forgive sins – this power is still available through the Sacrament of Reconciliation. One of the great marks of Christian peace is to receive forgiveness and when we do receive this forgiveness, we experience a peace that no worldly thing can give us. We become instruments of peace to others when we forgive those who have hurt us.

Today's first reading shows the Church as a community of peace, meeting with each other for the Eucharist, sharing their possessions, and looking out for one another, impressing the unbelievers around them by the lives they led. This is the model for us – not just to be individuals who come to Mass on Sunday, but to be connected and help one other to grow. This seems a central theme of Pope Francis's writings; that the parish should be an environment for hearing God's word, growing in the Christian life, for dialogue and outreach, a place where every member is crucial and has a mission – not just a select few. Faith is what holds our community together.

Today is also Divine Mercy Sunday, when we think of Our Lord's great mercy, as He communicated it to St Faustina. Our sins are like a drop in the great ocean of His mercy. When we turn to Him and experience His mercy, we find deep peace.

This is also an important day because two former popes of the Church are being declared saints: John XXIII and John Paul II. Both of these men knew that true peace comes from knowing Christ, and they reflected this in their lives. Today we pray that they will intercede for us, that as the Catholic Parish of Our Lady & St George there may be peace among us, building a community that attracts others to Christ.

EASTER: Many thanks to all those who helped with preparations for, and participated in the Holy Week and Easter celebrations, and those who prepared the refreshments following the Easter Vigil. Thanks also to all those who gave us greeting cards and gifts. Your generosity and support is what keeps the Parish going, and is deeply appreciated.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS: The next meeting for the Social Committee will be on Thursday 1st May at 7.30pm in the Church meeting room.

I also intend to set up a committee to advise on maintenance of the Church, the Presbytery and Parish Hall. If you have any ideas or expertise, please come along to a meeting on Thursday 8th May at 7.30pm in the Presbytery.

With the coming of a new Bishop, I have been reflecting on the Parish itself and recognize that it has changed considerably in the 15 years I have been here. To help us to move forward, I am looking to establish a new Parish Council. I would intend for the members to receive some good spiritual formation to help us identify areas for growth and strategies for reaching out to others. In the meantime, please keep this intention in your prayers.

FEAST OF THE DIVINE MERCY: This Sunday is Divine Mercy Sunday, a devotion in which the faithful gather to seek Our Lord's mercy, and in a spirit of repentance, seek mercy for others. The feast will be celebrated from 1.30pm, with the Blessed Sacrament exposed, the rosary and Divine Mercy chaplet prayed and confession available. Mass will be celebrated at 3pm, followed by refreshments. All are welcome.

PROCESSION IN HONOUR OF OUR LADY: On Sunday 11th May (two weeks today) we will be holding our third annual procession in Honour of Our Lady. As in previous years, the procession will begin at 2.00pm at the Upper Site of Our Lady & St George School (near Forest Road) and proceed along Shernhall Street to the Church, singing hymns along the way. This year, we will have some priests from various ethnic communities in attendance to lead decades of the rosary in different languages, along with families from the parish. You are encouraged to come along for this public display of our faith, and to bring flags or banners, or wear traditional dress from your home country. Don't forget your rosary! If you would like to assist with logistical preparations, can donate or arrange flowers or help with photography, please contact parishoffice@olsq.co.uk.
