TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME (A)

Most of us make resolutions with good intentions, but may not get round to carrying them out. We tell ourselves we'll do something good, but somehow it doesn't happen. We fail to write that letter, or visit that person, or carry out that good deed, or whatever. There are many expressions that describe this situation, such as 'talk is cheap', 'put your money where your mouth is', 'walk the talk', 'actions speak louder than words', and so on. A professor at my college said, 'when all is said and done, there is more said than done.' There is a gap between what we know to be right and our doing of it – and this gap arises from our frail human condition.

In today's Gospel, Jesus gives a parable of two sons invited to go to work in their father's vineyard. The first refuses initially but later goes, whilst the second promises to go but never does. In both cases, the action is more important than words. Our love for God, our faith, must also be more than words. It must always move us to action, whether through personal repentance, seeking the Lord more closely in prayer, or reaching out to our brother or sister in need. Holy thoughts are good, but they only do us real good when we act on them.

Jesus commends the good actions of the 'tax collectors and prostitutes,' which are making their way into the Kingdom of God ahead of the spiritual leaders of the day, who are full of their own pride and lack humility. These tax collectors and prostitutes are like the first son in the parable, who initially resisted the will of God and went their own sinful, stubborn way. But later they say 'yes' to God's will and undergo conversion.

If Jesus were talking to us today, He might say, 'the drug addicts, the alcoholics, the gang members' are making their way into the Kingdom of God before you.' That might sound shocking but if they really have come to know the grace of repentance and the mercy and love of Jesus for them, it makes sense; it might be that we know about Jesus in our heads, but He hasn't touched our hearts really.

Many of you will remember John Pridmore, who came to give our Parish Mission in 2012. Here was a former local gangster who one day hit rock bottom and pleaded with God for another chance. Just at that moment he describes his feeling of consolation and for the first time in his life he knew that God was real and loved him – and his life changed.

As the First Reading tells us, 'when the sinner renounces sin to become law-abiding and honest, he deserves to live'. Renouncing sin means to recognise our wrongdoing and seek to repair the damage caused by our transgressions. We come to the Lord for forgiveness, in humility, because we know well that we are all susceptible to falling from grace. But knowing the mercy of God, we can approach Him with confidence.

Our actions do not always match our words, but it is better to be a person who resists God's will but eventually does it, like the first son in the Gospel, than to be a person who says he will do God's will but never does. Best of all, of course, is to say 'yes' to God's will and then do it, like Mary, who pondered the word of God in her heart and carried it out.
