Fourth Sunday of Advent

In this wild, unpredictable ride that we call 'life', there is one thing we can always count on, one constant: Our Creator chooses to be with us throughout it all. No matter what unpredictable events take place in our lives, God's son, Jesus, promises to be there, guiding us and comforting us and challenging us, and helping us to take the next step in God's plan for us.

In Joseph's case, the way that God guided him was through an angel appearing to him in a dream. That may happen to you, but probably not. The good news is that God has many ways to appear to us, and to guide us on our life's journey. It might be a well-timed phone call or visit from a friend. It might be verse of a hymn that we had not noticed before. It might be in some completely unexpected and uprising way. But when we have the eyes of faith, and when we trust in God, he will always be there for us, leading us on the way.

We are reminded of this promise in a very powerful way at the very end of Matthew's Gospel. After Jesus has grown, and been baptised and proclaimed the Kingdom of Heaven, and called his disciples, and been arrested and tortured and crucified, and raised from the dead, after all of this, Jesus gathered his disciples together one more time, to send them out to make disciples of all nations, and to baptize in the name of the Father and the Son and of the Holy Spirit. But before he sends them out, he reminds them of this same promise. The last words spoken by Jesus in Matthew's Gospel would echo the words spoken by the angel to Joseph before Jesus was even born. Words which are at the heart of the good news recorded in Gospel of Matthew. Jesus, our Emmanuel, who is our promise that God is with us, spoke these final words: 'And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age.' God is with us, always.

Have a Blessed Week
